REVISING THE RETURNS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—The revision of the figures in Westelecter County shows a clerificate error in the Associated Press footings. The correction of this error gives Cleveland figures rotes than the previous statement based on the election districts.

A difference of nearly 4th has been found in cuttaraugus County between the Associated Press tootings and the returns of the County Clerk. In the latter's dignres stand they will increase liming splurality by 441; if not, there will be no change. REVISING THE RETURNS. civel. It the latter's figures stand they will increase Illaine-splantality by 441; if not, there will be no change.

New York, Nov. S.—The Supreme Courtyescreday granted an order requiring the Chief of the Bureau of Elections to show cause why in should not permit the committee of lawyers appointed at Thursday night's meeting to inspect the election returns.

New York, Nov. B.—The question who has garriad New York is pow quiefly a question of the accurate toother of long columns of 2grees. The footings of County Clorks, with only a few missing, indicate that Cloveland has about one theusual plurality. The footings of election districts made in the Associated Press office indicate that Illaine has nearly an equal plurality. Twelve districts in the State had not up to this morning reported at all. Some sixty others had reported, but their accuracy was questioned, and they will be verified to-day. The whole list of counties will be curefully readed to-day, and the result of that addition, as well as the result of that addition, as well as the result of the compilerion of the County Clerks' figures, will be sent out as soon as completed by the Associanted Press.

Owing to the diversified opinion as to the orrectness and manner in which the returns

Owing to the diversified opinion as to the correctness and manner in which the returns from this State have been received and mutil-ated by the Associated Press, it has invited a committee from both the Democratic and Re-publican National and State Committees and the newspapers of the city to visit its offices and examine its returns as re-ceived direct from the various districts throughout the State, and also its mode of tabulating them and to assist in retabulating them.

Every county has sent in its full vote, after a careful verification, and the results assure Governor Cleveland a plurality of about 1,000 in this State. The vote will not vary 200 on either side of these figures. New York gives Cleveland enough votes to elect him. The Journal has devoted all its energies toward securing another result, and it now roluctuatly states that the election has been decided differently from its desire, because it believes that prompt recognition of the will of the unifority is essential to the maintenance and preservation of American institutions. Chicago, Nov. 8.—Blaino's plurality in Illinois will be about 22,000, against more than 40,000 for Gardied in 1889. Returns on the Presidential vote have been received from all counties in the State except Calhoun, Jefferson, McHenry, Pope and Randolph, Most of those returns are official but in some counties several precises are missing, and in them the majorities are estimated, but the official returns will not differ from the figures given more than 100 or 60 votes either way. The figures at hand show a plurality for Blaine of 21,245.

Returns of the vote for Governor have not yot been received from the counties of Calhoun, Clay, Cumberland, Cass, DeKalb, Greene, Henry, Hamilton, Kane Kondaill, McHenry, Pope, St. Clair, Wabush and Warrensixteen in all. The eighty-six countoes from which returns have been received give Oglesby a plurality of 4,138 over Harrison. The sixteen missing counties gave Garfield a net plurality of 7,331 in 1890. This added to Oglesby's known plurality would give him II.459. It now looks as though there would be a tie on joint ballet in the new Legislature.

New York, November 8, 3:45 p m -The following special to the Evening felegram shows clearly that Mr. Blame is in a very disagreeable state of mind.

Augusta, Mr., November 8.—The intimate friends of Mr. Blaine have been greatly surprised during the past thirty-six hours to discover his phlegmatic coolness on receipt o election returns has completely deserted him, and that has been exhibiting a petulancy pitable to see. It was said that the republican committee admit-ted that Cleveland and Hendricks had received a majority of the votes of New York, but that a large number of false registrations had been discovered, and with this as a basis the cry of "fraud" was to be raised, and under this cry the whole question would go into the House of Repre-sentatives. Two flags are flying from the World building; one large one hangs over the business office of the Heraid; one from the Evening Post building; one from the Timas building and d z ens from the stores along Broadway The city wears a holiday air and to night it will ring with good-natured cheers. An immense meeting of business men is to be held at the Academy of Music, and addresses are to be made by George William Curtis, Carl Schurz, Samuel J. Randall and others. # At the very top of this clean sheet of paper, before I have dulled: my indignation by any discussion of side issues. I desire to placard my protest against the European bed. Let it be recorded that a room in a European held does contain a bed. When you have to set up issueskeeping, for yourself—going out and purchasing scap, candles, comb and urush, letter-paper, ste. (one usually prefers buying them.outside of the hotel); but I believe the bed is usually included as a part of the furniture of the room. Whatever else there say, be deficient, let it be set down that the bed is one hand. I have yet to discover a place, also, where a certain amount of water is not allowed to each hotel guest. Let justice be done though the beavens fall. The continental had is good enough, what there is of it and there is of it and there is a pound of it can be a set of it and there is a pound of it.

REDS ABRUAD.

Summary of a Traveler's Experience in the Line of Beds.

The Continental Bed-Bouble Rede Rare in Europe-India and Japan-Typical Red of the Orient.

[Foreign Cor. Inter Ocean.]

At the very top of this clean sheet of pa-

the beavens fall.

The continental bed is good enough, what there is of it, and there is enough of it, such as it is. There is not enough of it, such as it ought to be, however. In other words, it ends too quick. After thoroughly testing several score of them I am convinced that, as a rule there ought to be a few more inches put on the average bed. To be sure I can just manage to wedge myself in between the head board and the foot board, but I always think when I commit myself to the arms of

> But, really, the round-the-world traveler might fill a book with his experiences in the line of Leds, and then have said nothing about the novel tussles with native beds. After leaving Ban Francisco I slept on slender bedsteads of iron or brass until I reached bedsteads in first in months. Never once during all this time do I remember having seen a woolen bedstead, and only once or twice a double bedstead, im missionary homes.) and Japanese mountains, where insects do sated worth everywhere from 2 dollars and 25 cents to 2 pecially virulent in Egypt and Calcutta. As for fleas, give the chrome to raice out a moment's hesitation. Japan and Asia Minor are bad enough, but in Palestine the pestiferous things compained even the hardy Bedouins to move their camps. personne to move their cauris.

In some parts of India travelers are expected to carry their own sheats, counterpane, and pillowerse, just us you must always do in a rathery carriage, there if you propose to sleep in state on one of the hanging shelves or quadroned seats. This is literally taking one work had and within. nanging sperves or quantized seats. This is literally taking up your bed and riding. In Japan I had screens ornamental with painted storks around my couch while stop-ping at the civilized European hotsl. In the interior two fea-infested blankets or "futons" spread on the floor constituted my bed, while I usually rolled up a third to put under my head rather than use one of the native wooden pillows shaped like a double-end flatiron,

The typical bed of the Orient for Ruropean and American usage is a stender fron appearatus, some four feet wide or less, with tall from rods at each corner, connected above, designed to support the musquiton netting. Most often the netting heags over this from frame-work, and leops each way on the side by-which you are wont to enter. This arrangement looks well, but it is a mockery, a delusion and a snare. The musquitoes have no trouble whatever in entering where it is front strips overlap, and around the upright rods at the bottoms where the netting is that to resign a good beath before making that to resign a good beath before making and the gas fine as cheese cloth, suspended on the > Window Pictures. The Current.

Complaint is properly made against the exhibition of obscase pictures by some news-dealers, the demoralizing effect being nested in crowds they attract; but the same crowd will stand and study almost any window picture, whether it has a bad or good motive. This is an indication, in a small way, of the value a free public art gallery would be bo.s. community as an educating agency.

THE FRENCH PAPERS.

The Richest Papers in the World Are Probably in Paris.

How The Figare Pivides Its Profit -The Petit Journal's Charges for Advertising-Paidfor News Items.

[The Journalist.] We Americans are very apt to believe that we have the best of everything that goes.

We are, among other things, fond of boast-ing that we have the biggest papers and the ing that we have the higgest papers and the largest circulations, and we charge the holgest prices for advertising.

Yet the richest papers in the world are probably in Paris; that is to say, the papers that pay the higgest profits. We are apt to counterfeit amazement when we are told that The Sna makes $200,000 a year, and that Dana's own income is in the neighborhood of $100,000 a year. But that is nothing com-$100,000 a year. But that is nothing compared with the income of the Levys, of The London Telegraph, and certainly not to be compared with the moons derived by the properetor of The Petit Journal, in Paris a long time past, man of that concern, to be a workman ... need man or that concern, when used to be a workman at frances e day, has made an average of 2,000, 000 france prefit a year, or about $400,000.

His paper is about the size of The Dally New York and the size of The Dally New News here, and the price is 1 cent. It i claimed that the Petit Journal has a circula tion of 800,000 copies a day. It, of course goes throughout France. But The Faris Figare is the most remarks. be paper of all as regards the most remarks-ble paper of all as regards the division of its-profits. It has a circulation, of not much more than 69,000. On soine days—Saturday for insistace—the circulation runs up to 120,-031. When the late Dr. Villemessaul, the proprieter of The Figure died, he left the paper to the care men who had done the most to to the three men who had done the most co-aid him. But there were many old con-tributors to The Figaro—men with well-known names, who made an outcry at this division of the property. They insisted they ought to have been consulted, and they threatened to loave the establishment in a body and found a new Figaro. This ainsmed See all wool suits, all colors, 5 dollars, worth 12 dollars and 50 cents.

We are apt to consider 30 and 40 cents We are spt to consider 30 and 40 cants a line for advertising a pretty high price in our daily papers. The price The Petit Journal charges per line is $0, and for reading matter $13. The regular price of The Figare is $4 a line, and for reading notices $3. For an article lately published about the Panama canal scheme, taking about three-quarters of a column on the first page, the commany ratio a column on the first page, the company paid $10,000. Another peculiarity of The Figaro, and of most of the French papers, is that they rent out the financial column by the year to enylogdy who wants it. A wellknown banking house pays The Figure 180,-000 francs a year for the use of their finan-cial column, and puts in whatever it pleases.

They have a ton years' contract.

Het more singular still, from the American point of view, is that The Figure will not mention any watering place in its columns as new: Our papers devote pages during a season of Saratoga, Long Branch, Newport, etc., and consider it a matter of news. Every ine The Figure publishes about Tronville, or Dieppe, or Nice, is paid for at $8 a line. The hotel keepers do it, and this source of income is one of the largest the paper has. Nor will The Figure mention scould events of any sort, excepting the very high-placed people, such as the Comte de Parie, unless they are paid for. There is a men who used to be a sholl-ing actor, who a couple of years ago had a large fortun left. He bought the title of an Italian due- and the estates, and is very anxious to shine in Parisian sincles. He gives spleadid receptions, and pays $3 a line in the Figure to have the accounts published. He has been worth to that paper for the past year about $25,000 in this way. All his moreoments are chronicled. As well as we

His employers bor with him for a while, and in fact raised his salary four times within three years, for they fully appreciated his services. A day came however, when they had to tell him plainly pillows shaped like a double-end flathirm, with a rapered curve adapted to support the neck. The woodu pillow was suggestive of the guillotine to my mind, and on the whole that which he should not be would instantly find in the city another situation as good as scarce preferable to the guillotine.
